

THINK Pink

Sarah Robbins' library in her Lake Angelus home "screams of her personality," says interior designer Cheryl Nastro, of Northville-based Tutto Interiors. "Sarah's vivacious, and a great businesswoman, and the only thing she told me before we started this project was that she wanted it (to be) all her, and plenty girly." The perfect colors? Pinks, of course, with carefully selected dollops of gray along with crisp whites.

Transforming a huge "dark, over-the-top traditional" library has been a memorable and enjoyable experience for Nastro. "We started with the pink fabric on the chair, which has hints of gray, and built the space from there," she recalls. "Then we refinished all the wood-working with gray paint and glaze." The high-gloss white desk with Lucite legs and white lacquer baroque-style mirrors add an ultra-feminine touch. "It's very eclectic," Nastro says. "Traditional, modern, classic, and transitional are all pulled together in one room, which speaks volumes about the homeowner's personality." Adds Robbins: "Because I own a home-based business, it was important to have a space that inspired me. I enjoy things that are girly and glam. Cheryl has gotten to know who I am and what I like, and she made this space come to life for me." tuttointeriors.com

CHERYL NASTRO

STYLE FILE Chair fabric: Donghia Inc. Wallpaper: Maya Romanoff's Paulownia wood design that's hand-painted with a chevron pattern and a slight gray shimmer (it's a wood veneer with paper backing). Rug: Stark Carpet exclusive — a hand-loomed hyper shag with a platinum metallic loop. Desk: ModShop.